The intention of the original order was to restrict the scholarships to those widows whose social customs and express rules do not prohibit them from remarrying and the question having arisen in connection with the Devaraj Bahadur charity scholarships, only widows belonging to the Hindu community were considered to come under the prohibition For the present therefore, the Inspector General may distribute the scholarships only to such widows as are prohibited from remarrying The object is to ameliorate the condition of such widows and train them for useful employment as teachers In the case of widows allowed to remarry, this object is not likely to be gained and hence the need for the redistribution mentioned

The words do not it is suggested should have to be struck out

From

To

Secretary to the Government of H H the Maharaja of Mysore General and Revenue Departments Bangalore

SIR,

With reference to Government Order No H 6919-21/Ed 232-04 dated the 11th April 1905 sanctioning Scholarships for widows studying in schools, I have the honour to state that there are some widows who do not remarry because remarriage is prohibited in the Communities to which they belong, and there (1) are others again who remain widows of their (2) own choice, though remarriage is permissible in the Communities to which they belong. Under these circumstances I request the orders of Government as to whether the scholarships sanctioned sanctioned in the Order may not be given to all widows without distinction of caste There is no reference made to caste in the Order quoted above but I ask this question to remove all doubt on the subject

2 Another point on which the Orders of Government are requested is whether the scholarships may not be given to widows reading in aided schools as well as those that attend Government institutions I would make the scholarships tenable in both Government and aided schools, and leave it to the scholarship holder to prosecute her studies in whichever school in the State she may find it most convenient to do so The Scholarships paid from the Devaraj Bahadur Fund are tenable in both Government and Aided Schools and it is a principle laid down by the Education Commission that when scholarships are paid from Public Funds they should be tenable in Aided as well as Government Institutions

I have the honour to be
Sir
Your most obedient servant
